

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It has been a long challenging and educational journey and I was lucky that I did not have to do it alone. I would like to express my enormous gratitude to those people that helped me and made the task of completing this dissertation an easier one.

First of all, I would like to thank my advisors Prof. Steve Rosen and Prof. Gideon Avni. Without their help and support the completion of this thesis would not have been possible. Also, I would like to thank the Israel Antiquities Authority for their funding of my dissertation with a fellowship.

I would like to extend a special thank you to my colleagues from the IAA Southern District, in particular, Dr. Daniel Varga, Dr. Davida Eisenberg-Degen, Dr. Tali Erickson-Gini, Mr. Emil Aladjem, Mr. Gregory Seriy, Mr. Martin Pasternak, Mr. Vladik Lifshits, and Mr. Oren Shmueli for their invaluable help, advice and access to unpublished materials from their excavations. A special thanks to Ms. Flavia Sonntag, for her help surveying and mapping archaeological sites in the city of Be'er Sheva and its surrounding, which have been found during inspections and trial trenching but have been preserved in situ.

Furthermore, I would like to thank Dr. Itamar Taxel for collaborating with me on the publication of the large excavation of Khirbat Amra, and Ms. Svetlana Talis, for the opportunity to work on the publication of the necropolis of Tel Malhata. Both sites are of great importance for this study, and it allowed me to learn a lot about the material culture and history of the area during the Classical period. I would also like to thank Prof. Gunnar Lehmann for the reading class and the interesting discussions that turned into a chapter of this dissertation.

Finally, I want to give a special thanks to my parents and siblings for their love and support.

And above all, I want to thank my family, Ira, Liam and Laurie, for always being there for me.
